

Nursing Students For Choice

Season's Greetings Friends!

I hope that your 2013 has been as exciting and inspiring as ours! Nursing Students for Choice had a big year. We celebrated our first year with our first staff person, Program Director, Karmann Peters. We also hosted our very first Activist Summit, which went better than any of us could have hoped or imagined! We sent more students to conferences this year than in any year past, and our board of directors volunteered hundreds of hours to get our critical work done.

Looking ahead to 2014, we have a lot of exciting work to do. We will begin planning our 2014 Activist Summit, to be hosted in Minneapolis/St.Paul, MN and you'll see monthly blog posts written by our board of directors. Starting in early January, we will begin our search for a second staff person! This new hire will serve as a part-time office manager to support the organization in our day to day activities.

I am so very proud of the work that Nursing Students for Choice does and I'm so very thankful to all of our supporters, board members, and friends. Without your unyielding support, we wouldn't be where we are today. I look forward to your continued support as we grow as a national organization that ensures that women and their families have access to nurses who support their choices, provide education, and share resources throughout their reproductive lives.

Please consider including Nursing Students for Choice in your end of year giving. As a small non-profit, every one of your donations count, no matter the size. As always, donations are tax deductible.

Thank you and here's to a great 2014!!!
